About the AMHS Strength & Conditioning Program

The AMHS Sports Performance Facility is a 1,500-square-foot training space filled with some of the best strength and conditioning equipment in the state of Washington. The Rogue branded room holds 10 Power Racks (7 fully customized Power Racks, 3 adjustable Half Racks), age-appropriate and various barbells, over 10,000lbs of free weights, dumbbells, kettlebells, medicine balls, bands, 5 sets of plyometric boxes, and speed and agility training equipment. Technology is also highly used in the room to track, measure, and improve power, strength, and speed. It also includes a turf area just a step away from the indoor training facility. Sports Performance Training and Injury Rehabilitation are performed in the room with Sports Medicine Staff. The best part: all of the walls are covered with faces of past and present Wildcats to create an amazing training environment for all!
